

Chesapeake Foodshed Network Coffee Talk

May 4, 2016

Community Food Rescue: A Model to Feed More and Waste Less

Resource Expert Bio and Contact Information

Cheryl Kollin, Program Director, Community Food Rescue

Cheryl Kollin, MBA is principal of Full Plate Ventures, a business consulting firm. She helps entrepreneurs, small businesses, and non-profit organizations launch food businesses in the Metro DC region. Cheryl currently serves as Program Director of Community Food Rescue, the coordinated network for food recovery in Montgomery County, Maryland. Community Food Rescue, a program of Manna Food Center, takes a systems approach to reducing wasted food and increasing good food to people experiencing hunger. Cheryl is a founding member of the Montgomery County Food Council.

Contact: cheryl@communityfoodrescue.org

Website: <https://communityfoodrescue.org/>

Sign up for the Community Food Rescue newsletter:

<https://www.facebook.com/communityfoodrescue/app/141428856257/>

Chesapeake Foodshed Network

Catalyzing connections and collaborations that build a sustainable, resilient, inclusive and equitable regional food system in the Chesapeake Bay watershed.